

Friday, July 18, 2008

Fox & Hound

By Brian La Belle

Pussy & Pooch

Located in the heart of downtown Los Angeles, Pussy & Pooch is the ultimate pet boutique. Catering to hip, upscale dog and cat owners, a visit to the store is part shopping excursion part experience. A wide selection of organic pet food is available for your furry friends along with everyday supplies including treats, food bowls, clothing, leashes, and furniture. The selection is not vast but quality not quantity is the theme here. Mosey your friend up to the PawBar for a delicious gourmet meal or perhaps a dog beer while you shop. The store's best feature is the Bathhouse--a grooming area for urban dwellers to wash the dirt and smog from their pets. With professional washing and drying stations, and all the cleaning and grooming supplies you need, this self-service area is a great option for the new influx of downtown residents with pets. Pussy & Pooch hosts numerous events throughout the month including social gatherings for neighbors and their four-legged friends, pet adoptions, and special guests. This isn't one of those super-sized pet stores in a mini-mall so be prepared to drop some cash if purchasing something from the boutique.